

News From Room 105

Flat Stanley Has Arrived!

That famous traveling boy who was flattened by a book shelf is coming home with your student today.

Yes, his name is Flat Stanley. The students just finished reading his first adventure story after the flattening accident. Each student has made their own Stanley and has a diary and information letter explaining the project.

The students are expected to send or take their Stanley on at least one adventure out of our state. During his travels we hope he will bring back information about where he traveled. Students will then be required to assemble a poster displaying what he learned about on his trip. All of the students will then share with the class their Stanley's adventure or adventures.

Grosse Pointe
Public Schools

Friday, 2-6-09

☺Please send your student in with an eraser for our white board slates. A clean old washcloth or old sock will work great.

Thank you very much to all of you who generously contributed to giving me a wonderful gift certificate to Macy's. I really appreciate it and apologize that I haven't mentioned it sooner!!

Valentines Day and Winter Break !

Our class Valentines day party will be this Tuesday (2-10) in the PM. We will decorate valentine boxes and have other fun activities. We will then pass valentines out on Friday, 2-13. It Will be a lot of fun

We are starting a new Science Unit on Sound, learning Geometry in Math and reading biographies in reading!