

News From Mrs. Vasquez

February 9, 2009

Dear Parents,

Today a second grade class from Mason visited our second grades and presented a short assembly. It was a nice presentation and a nice break!

Math:

There will only be math homework on Wednesday and Thursday this week. Please try to have it all turned in before the break. We will have fun this week measuring our arm spans, and using those numbers to learn about median. We will do other group activities to find the median - the middle value in a set of numbers.

Science:

Despite the best laid plans, we did not begin Balance and Motion as planned for last week. We will begin this unit this week. We will start with balancing activities.

Social Studies:

February is Black History month. I love baseball, so the students will be learning about Jackie Robinson. We will also learn about Abe Lincoln and George Washington in anticipation of President's Day.

Don't forget your Valentines on Friday!!

Enjoy the break,

Monique Vasquez
