Schoology Find and Submit Assignments

This video tells Ss to check Powerschool for their overall grades which may confuse students in our District. You may want to add in a note to let student viewers know that the grade in Schoology is their grade.

Upload a Google Doc (This video shows how students can submit a file in an Assignment from their google drive using the “Resources” tab. See image below. This is not an explanation for a Google Drive Assignment.

Find Missing Assignments in Schoology

This video is great for students to truly know how to read the finer details of the grades in Schoology. The dashmark without the icon means that the student has not turned in the Schoology material while a dashmark with an icon means that the student has turned in the work and the work is awaiting assessment from the teacher. In this case, it would be important for the student to remind the teacher that the work has been turned in and is ready for grading. This video informs students how easy it is to get to any work in the grades by simply clicking on the title which is hyperlinked to the Schoology material. What this video does not show are the built in gradebook icons that mark exceptions: Excused (green hexagon), Incomplete (half-filled orange hexagon), Missing (orange outlined hexagon). Marking exceptions as Excused or Missing removes the item from a student's Overdue notifications. Marking an overdue item as Incomplete does not remove the item from a student's Overdue notifications.

When the teacher assigns EP so that students earn a grade for their responses to the EP items, students must finish each item and watch the entire EP so that the EP score is integrated in the Schoology gradebook. One of the student's responsibilities is to keep account of their Schoology grades in each course. After completing the EP, reflect on your performance and verify that the EP score has been integrated into their grades. If the score is not recorded, please inform your teacher.
